We can see Barnacle Geese in spectacular numbers on this tour

28th February to 4th March 2019

£698

This is a visit to Southern Scotland and Morecombe Bay area to experience the sight and sound of some of the 35,000 Barnacle geese that come from Svalbard each year to winter on our shores, Sea Ducks, Grebes and Divers as well as some scarcer passerines such as Hawfinch.

Departure is from Norfolk early morning of Thursday 28th February and drop off is in Norfolk on the evening of Monday 4th March. Pick up and drop off 'en-route' can be arranged.

Day 1	Drive to Leighton Moss and on to Dumfriesshire
Day 2	A visit to Loch Ryan and a Red Kite area
Day 3	Caerlaverock and surrounding area
Day 4	A walk along a river for Goosander and drive to Leighton Moss
Day 5	A visit to a Hawfinch site and return to Norfolk

Although we will endeavour to follow our planned programme due to bad weather and other considerations this is not always possible. You can rest assured that any alterations to our planned itinerary will be made to make maximum use of our time and weather conditions.

Overview

This is a Winter Tour to the Scottish side of the Solway Firth centred on the WWT Caerlaverock reserve with visits to the west coast of Scotland and areas around Morecombe Bay in Lancashire to see wintering birds and occasional rarities.

Day 1 - Thursday

We will leave Norfolk early morning and stop en-route at Leighton Moss RSPB Reserve to take in a few overwintering birds during our journey to Dumfriesshire. Arriving at our Hotel we will have a hearty meal before retiring. Leighton Moss has become a northern stronghold for wintering Great White Egrets and is an Otter haven.

Day 2 – Friday

After breakfast we will drive to the west coast visiting an area for Red Kite and exploring Loch Ryan. This is a haven for wintering duck, grebes and divers. We will be taking our time to explore this the most southerly of Scotland's sea lochs before returning to our hotel for our evening meal.

Day 3 – Saturday

After a filling breakfast we will make our way onto the local WWT reserve and surrounding areas. The centre of attraction will be the thousands of Barnacle geese that use the reserve during winter. Any small flocks of this goose elsewhere in the UK are usually escapes from collections or at best feral birds so the chance to study wild barnacles in their wintering quarters will be quite special. Other geese species will also be present and the chance of a rarity among them is high. The reserve is also used as a wintering area by raptors and owls; Peregrine and Goshawk are possible. Whooper Swans also return annually to the reserve and the area is used by wintering waders and duck including over wintering Scaup and Whimbrel. Green winged Teal and Goosander are also regular visitors during February. The area is a true delight and offers a great wildlife spectacle.

Wintering Whooper Swans are a feature of Caerlaverock but by no means the only highlight

Day 4 - Sunday

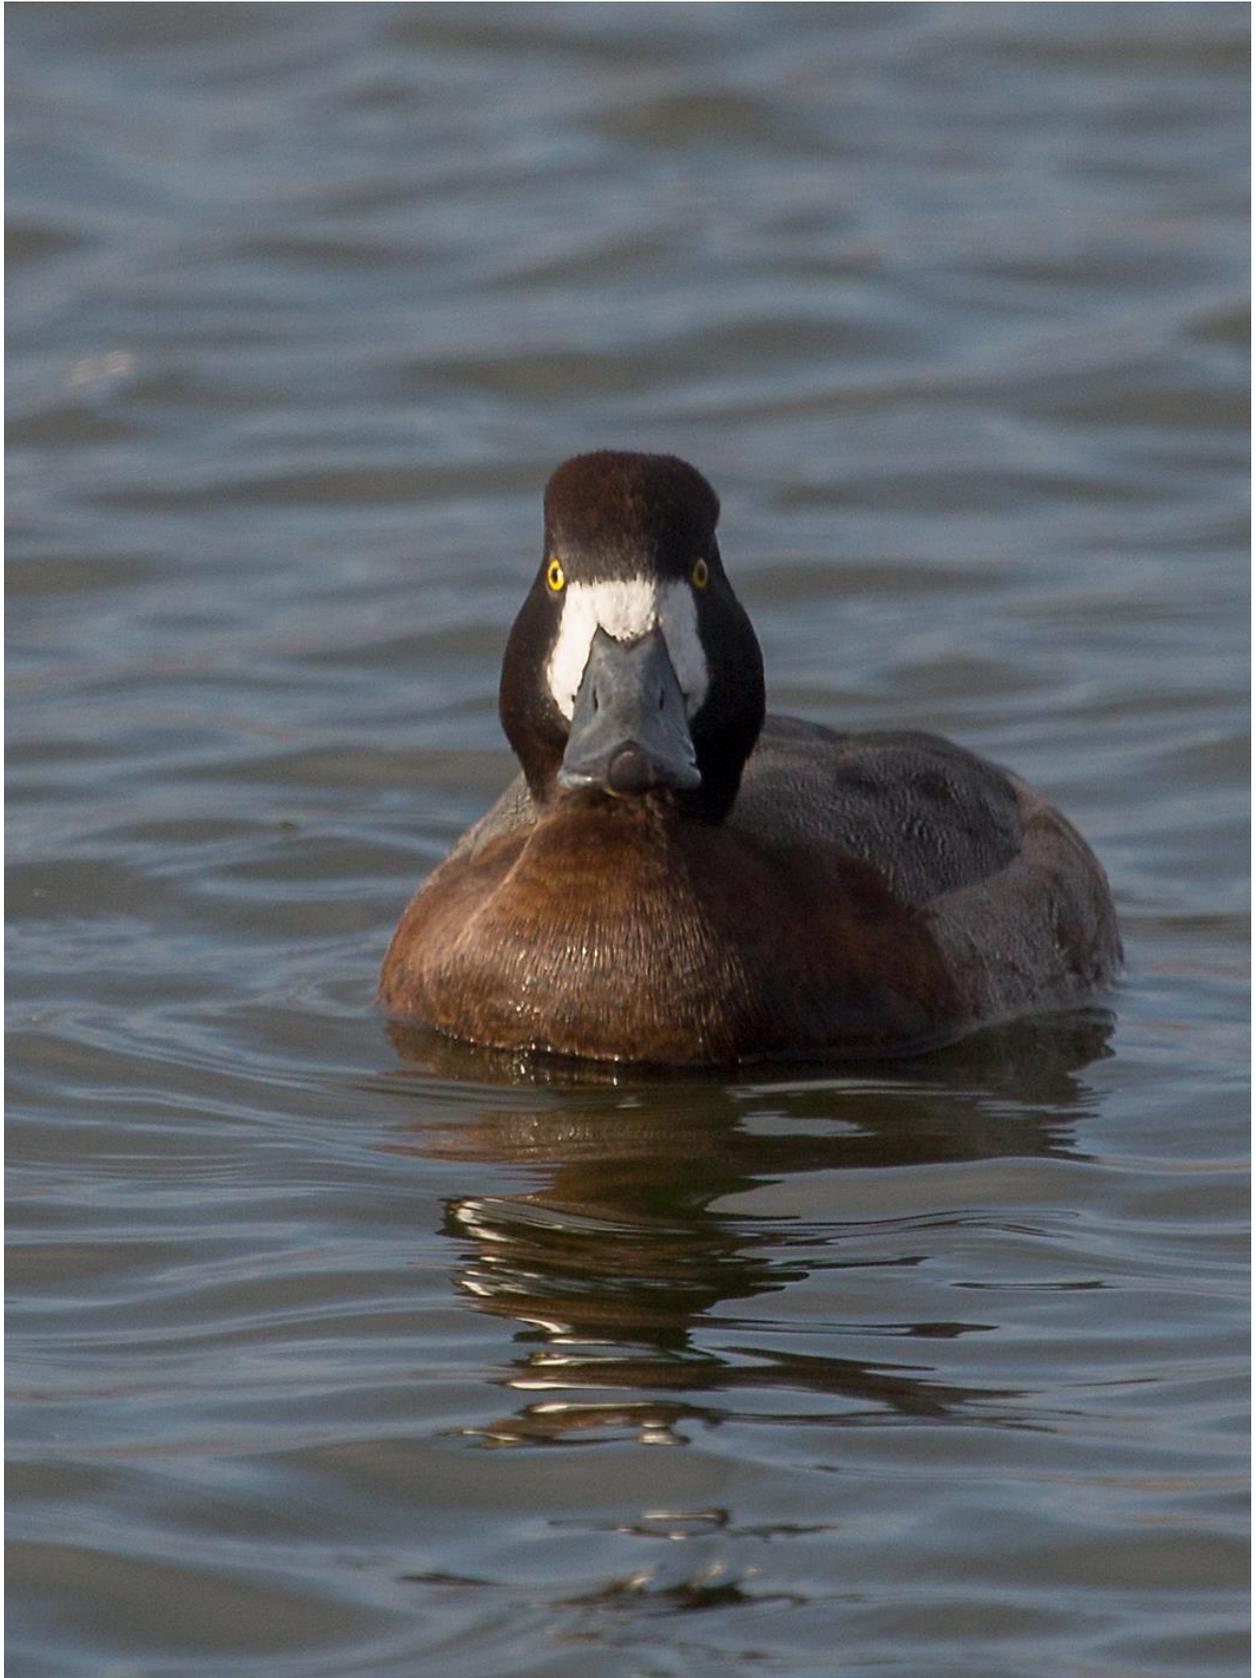

After breakfast we will search a local river for Dipper, Goosander and Grey Wagtails. Making our way back to Leighton Moss we will be able to visit some of the other areas of the reserve not already explored and search out the birds it has to offer. This is the largest reedbed in Northwest England. Bittern, Water Rail and Bearded Tit usually show well in winter within this RSPB reserve. At the end of our day we will make our way to our local hotel where a warm welcome will be waiting for us.

Goosander – spectacular swimmers in rough water

Dippers are not uncommon on the rivers of southern Scotland

Scaup are not common but can be seen with some regularity on this tour

Day 5 – Monday

Before breakfast we have an opportunity for an early morning walk to explore the west side of the estuary. After breakfast we will search for Hawfinch at a nearby stakeout. All too soon we will be making our way south back to Norfolk dropping off guests en-route.

What is included?

Photographic Tuition.

All meals and lunches from lunch on day 1 to lunch on day 5 are included within the price.

Transport to and from Norfolk and pick up en route at suitable locations.

Accommodation is normally in en suite rooms and lunches will be packed to give us more time in the field.
