Overview

This is a tour taking in not only the rewilded Estate of Knepp but also nearby reserves and places of note. Farming practices at Knepp have yielded some interesting wildlife that has moved into the area naturally.

We shall see White Storks that were introduced at Knepp as an iconic bird with which everyone can associate. Interestingly because of the methods of introduction 2022 is expected to be the first year that wild birds will return from their wintering grounds in North Africa.

Day 1 - Sunday

An early start from Norfolk will enable us to have an afternoon at one of the West Sussex rivers where Club tailed Dragonfly and White legged Damselfly occur. We will retire to our very comfortable hotel for an evening meal and maybe an evening walk.

Day 2 – Monday

After an early breakfast we will make our way to Knepp where we will walk much of the estate. Tamworth pigs, Exmoor ponies and Longhorn Cattle as well as several naturally occurring deer species are used to keep the former fields, now grasslands, free of canopy forming trees. The resulting areas of scrub and hedgerows that have developed are ideal for farmland birds such as Yellowhammers and Turtle Doves as well as birds such as Nightingales.

Day 3 – Tuesday

We have a last chance to explore the area around the Knepp Estate before visiting other areas close by. Sadly, we will then have to make our way back towards Norfolk dropping off on route.
